Guest Speaker

Laurie Madigan: Chair
Damien McInerney: Migrant Health Services

Damien is a consultant psychologist for Migrant Health Service. His talk focused around policies adopted by the Australian Government when dealing with refugees and asylum seekers. Damien contended that the support and humanitarian needs of those fleeing their countries, often for fears of imprisonment, assault, rape, etc., were not well met when they are treated poorly on arrival in Australia. Damien's view was that long periods of detention often spanning many years led to depression, other forms of mental illness and often suicide. The Tampa incident had put a spotlight on such treatment. Damien called for more advocacy for internees, from community groups.
